

Benjamin F. Nemode, President

As Powerdigm's President, Ben Nemode, has a mandate to carry out Tom Kiser and Jonathan Wege's vision for transforming the way American thinks about energy. He works closely with clients to develop structures that leverage Powerdigm's funding models to implement energy efficiency and renewable energy projects that meet their accounting principles and requirements. He also develops funding packages that can turn energy efficiency into an off balance sheet transaction.

Ben has worked in numerous financial positions, including 5 years at JP Morgan Chase. He received a Bachelors degree in Business with a special emphasis in Finance from Western Michigan University's Haworth School of Business.